

A PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor of Wisconsin.

It is my duty to announce to the people of Wisconsin, that James A. Garfield, President of the United States, died at Long Branch, on the evening of Monday, September 19th, instant, his strong constitution having at last succumbed to the assassin's mortal wound, inflicted more than eleven weeks since. During this long period of awful suspense, while the illustrious victim, with heroic fortitude and sublime patience, was enduring the intense suffering, a patriotic people, with alternating hope and fear, anxiously awaited the issue of this contest between life and death, and, in its fatal termination, in plunged in deepest grief. It is true the government lives and will live, and there is every reason to expect that the distinguished citizen who succeeds to the chief magistracy will discharge the responsible duties of that high station with great acceptance; the confidence and prayers of the nation will attend him in the trying difficulties of the hour. But this assurance cannot remove the distressing shock and burden of sorrow which oppresses every heart, and his untimely death lays hold upon us with the clinging grief of personal bereavement. It is not the President alone, but the man a well, whose loss we deplore. In the quiet walks of private life, on the battle-field, in legislative halls, in the executive chair, in all the positions and relations of life, from the humblest to the loftiest, he ever displayed rare ability, integrity and fidelity. He was a noble, disinterested, noble nature, nobly disciplined, successive years of faithful public service marked a continued increase in his influence and popularity, and deservedly won for him the most exalted position to which an American citizen can aspire. The record of his life and achievements will forever adorn the pages of history and illustrate and typify the genius and possibilities of American citizenship.

In behalf of the people of Wisconsin, I tender to the bereaved family of the deceased, President, our most respectful condolence and warmest human sympathy. With them we mourn, for them we implore divine support.

I solemnly recommend that at such hour as may be not apart for the funeral, the people of the State lay aside their usual avocations, and assemble at their respective places of public worship, or other convenient places, to join in memorial services fitting to the mournful occasion, and to implore the mercy of Almighty God, upon our afflicted nation. I further recommend that all public buildings within the State be suitably draped in mourning. As tokens of respect to the memory of the illustrious dead, appropriate military honors will be paid, the Capitol will be draped in mourning, the flag displayed at half staff, and the State Departments will be closed this day, and on the day of the funeral.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed.

(Great Seal.) Done at the city of Madison, this twentieth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

WILLIAM E. SMITH.
By the Governor:
(Signed) HANS B. WANNER,
Secretary of State.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MADISON, Sept. 21.—There is no telling which way the gubernatorial cat will jump. The best of the political prophets—those who have been leading workers in politics since the Republican party was brought into being—have no definite idea as to what will be the outcome of the convention. There never before was such a confused mass of ideas as to the chances of the twenty or thirty candidates for positions on the State ticket. General Rusk and Secretary of State Warner, who seem to head the list of gubernatorial candidates, are each confident of success. The General counts 152 delegates on his side, "with other counties to hear from," while his opponents give him but 90. Ninety, they say is the full measure of his strength, while Warner can muster full as many as the General.

A careful survey of the field this morning will compell one to admit that it is impossible to tell which of these candidates is ahead. There are scores of delegates claimed by each who come here unpledged, and will not tell anyone how they will vote. For this reason there is an embarrassing uncertainty connected with the question. Lieutenant Governor Bingham has a handsome following, and there are some who claim that neither Rusk nor Warner can be nominated, and that Bingham will come in for the prize. For Secretary of State there are three prominent candidates—Colonel Johnson, of Rock, Captain Timmo of Kenosha, and Senator McFetridge, of Dodge. While the friends of Johnson are pressing him with commendable vigor, the large number who are advocating Timmo are confident that he will be nominated. He himself regards his chances good, and in fact he is resting in full assurance that he will be nominated.

There has not been much interest taken in the other places on the ticket. Halle Stearnsland, of Dane, is a candidate for State Treasurer, and he makes three prominent Norwegians applying for positions on the State ticket. If they would concentrate their forces on one man, they would win, but there is some fear that they will be "left." It seems to be agreed that Judge Frisby, of Washington county, will be nominated for Attorney General, but to guess as to the remainder of the ticket would be as wild as Vennor's guessing on the weather.

There will probably be no adjournment on account of the death of President Garfield. There is a general sentiment against even by those who live very near the capital. The convention will go on and do its work, but as to how it will be done it is unsafe to venture a prediction. The Republican convention can not afford to fritter away any advantages, notwithstanding the large majorities of one and two years ago, and the hope is that it will give the people a ticket which will command the highest respect and secure an overwhelming majority.

THE AUTOPSY.

Its Strange Developments.

ELBERON, N. J., Sept. 20.—The following official bulletin was prepared at eleven o'clock to-night by the surgeons who have been in attendance upon the late President:

"ELBERON, N. J., Sept. 20, 11 p. m.—By a previous arrangement the post-mortem examination of the body of President Garfield was made this afternoon in the presence and with the assistance of Drs. Hamilton, Agnew, Bliss, Barnes, Woodward, Heyburn, Andrew H. Smith, of Elberon, and Acting Assistant Surgeon D. S. Lamb, of the army medical museum of Washington.

"The operation was performed by Dr. Lamb.

"It was found that the ball, after fracturing the right eleventh rib, had passed through the spinal column, in front of the spinal canal, fracturing the body of the first lumbar vertebra, driving a number of small fragments of bone into the adjacent soft parts, and lodging below the pancreas, about two inches and a half to the left of the spine, and behind the peritoneum, where it had become completely encysted.

"The immediate cause of death was secondary hemorrhage from one of the mesenteric arteries adjoining the track of the ball, the blood rupturing the peritoneum and nearly a pint escaping into the abdominal cavity.

"The hemorrhage is believed to have been the cause of the severe pain in the lower part of the chest complained of just before death.

"An abscess cavity, six inches by four in dimensions, was found in the vicinity of the gall bladder, between the liver and the transverse colon, which were strongly interdependent. It did not involve the substance of the liver, and no communication was found between it and the wound.

"Along the suppurative channel extended from the external wound between the loin muscles and the right kidney at most to the right groin. This channel is now known to be due to the burrowing of the pus from the wound. It was supposed during life to be the track of the ball.

"On examination of the organs of the chest, evidences of severe bronchitis were found on both sides, with bronchopneumonia of the lower portions of the right lung, and, though to a much less extent, of the left.

"The lungs contained no abscesses and the heart no clots.

"The liver was enlarged and fatty, but free from abscesses, nor were any found in any other organ except the kidney, which contained, near its surface, a small abscess, about one-third of an inch in diameter.

"In reviewing the history of this case, in connection with the autopsy, it is quite evident that the different suppurative surfaces, and especially the fractured spiny tissue of the vertebra, furnish sufficient explanation of the septic condition which existed.

THE FUNERAL TRAIN.

Casket and Mourners—From Long Branch to Washington and Cleveland.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., September 20.—The Attorney General came to the Elberon and stated to the newspaper men the exact plans to be carried out in removing the dead President. He first described the casket, which he said bore the following inscription:

"JAMES ABRAHAM GARFIELD,
Born November 21, 1831,
Died,
PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,
Sept. 19, 1881."

The casket will arrive in the morning, and the remains will be placed in it, and for a brief period, will be viewed by the people of Elberon and surrounding country. At 10 o'clock the train will be brought to the door and the body placed in it. The train will be composed of a car for the President's body, a car for Mrs. Garfield, another for the cabinet, the physicians, and invited guests, a baggage car, and an engine. General Arthur, as before stated, will accompany the body to Washington. Ex-President Grant and wife have been invited to join the cortege, and will also go to Washington and Ohio. Ex-President Hayes and wife have been invited to join the cortege and accompany it to Ohio. At the door of the cottage the Governor of New Jersey, and a staff will take charge of the train, as representing the State in which the President died, and escort it to Elberon Junction, one-half mile distant, where it will be delivered to the Pennsylvania company, who will thereafter take charge of the funeral train until it reaches Cleveland.

The train to-morrow will make exceptionally fast time, and will make few stops. It is expected to arrive in Washington at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. The Adjutant General of the army, and Commodore Nielson, of the navy, will have charge of the arrangements at Washington, and in company with Sergeant-at-Arms Bright, of the Senate, and Thompson of the House, will control the remains while they lie in state. Sergeant-at-Arms Thompson is now here, and has received information of the desires of the family and the cabinet in the premises. He left for Washington to-night to make the necessary arrangements. The body will lie in state at the Capitol Thursday and Friday. Friday funeral services will be performed at the Capitol, and that night the remains will start by special train for Cleveland, Ohio. There they will be taken charge of by the municipal authorities of Cleveland, under the direction of the Governor of Ohio. The funeral services will be had there, and the body will lie in state Sunday and Monday, and on Monday afternoon will be consigned to its resting place in Lake View Cemetery. The cabinet has received hundreds of telegrams from towns along the route of travel between Long Branch and Cleveland, tendering services and asking that the body be allowed to lie a day or two in state in each of them.

Among the most noticeable was one from the municipal authorities of Philadelphia, asking that the body be allowed to lie in state in Independence Hall, and another from Pittsburg, asking that the people be allowed to view the body for a few hours. Replies were sent saying that Mrs. Garfield, whose desires and wishes were alone to be respected in the case, desired no display, and wished to be taken to Ohio as rapidly as possible with her husband's body. Hence all offers and requests must be declined and refused. A request will be sent to every town along the line of travel that no demonstrations of any kind be indulged in during the passage of the train, out of respect to the feelings of Mrs. Garfield.

THE TRAIN.

Special to the Gazette.

LONG BRANCH, September 21.—Five thousand people passed through the cottage and viewed the remains of the dead President. The doors and windows were then closed and a brief service was held by Rev. Mr. Young. Only a few friends and the cabinet were present. The train started at ten o'clock, and was beautifully draped. A few attendants are constantly in charge. President Arthur, General Grant, Chief Justice Waite, and other dignitaries boarded the train at Elberon Junction, and entered the car in the rear of the funeral car. Mrs. Garfield and family are in the rear car of the train.

PHILADELPHIA, September 21.—The train bearing the remains of the dead President arrived at 12:30. The bells of the city are tolling. A brief stop was made. Thousands viewed the train with silence and uncovered heads.

SATERLEE CLARK.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 20.—The Hon. S. Clark, a well-known Democratic politician of Wisconsin, fell dead in Minneapolis to-day.

The deceased was born in Washington, D. C., May 23d, 1816, and came to this State in 1828. He was a sutler at the military post at Green Bay from 1830 to 1843, and in 1849 was elected to the Assembly from Marquette county. For ten years, from 1861 to 1871, he represented the Thirty-third Senatorial district in the State Senate. He was chosen presidential elector on the Democratic ticket in 1882, and voted for Pierce and King for President and Vice President. He was also a delegate to the convention which nominated Horatio Seymour.

The Minneapolis Fair—a Desperate Bid Failure Financially—Its Managers.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 19.—It has taken a week to close the accounts of the great Minneapolis fair, which was held last week, under the management of Col. W. S. King, the famous "Bill King," of politics, and Colonel Clark, secretary of the board. Owing to rainy weather and other causes, the books show a balance of $18,000 on the wrong side. The expenses were $55,000, and the gross receipts were $37,000, leaving the deficit named. The labor and expenses of the fair will be paid in full, and probably the advertising, though there is talk of "scaling" the bills, which are very large and generally in obscure patent inside cheap papers. The society has cash and credit and resources to partly make up the deficiency for these items. Whether any premiums will be paid is doubtful.

The twenty mile rides of the "Queens of the turf" and the monster balloon ascension was a failure. Feeble attempts to carry the fair programme into effect as far as these features were concerned, were made this week, but were not satisfactory. It is said that no future exhibits will be made by the society.

DR. J. G. HOLLAND.

A Poetic Tribute.

New York, Sept. 19.—The poet, J. G. Holland, publishes the following in The Tribune, under the head of THE END!

A wisp went out upon our fairest son
And smote him to the quick, with poisoned shaft:
And knew not of the fatal mischief done,
And so this life, and all our love have been,
Evensonged by the music of his death,
Was drunk by death, in one June, in one Drought.

And he was lost—our precious, priceless one!
Oh, mystery of blind, remorseless fate!
Oh, cruellest of a most careless hate!
That life so mean should murder life so great!
Who left us here, to die who think and feel,
Who leave us remedy and no appeal,
But damn the wisp and crush him under heel?

Physical Suffering.

No-one can realize, except by personal experience, the anguish of mind and body endured by sufferers from dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, and other diseases of the stomach, bowels, blood. Bitters are a positive cure for this distress of all diseases. Price, $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

THE CONVENTION.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, Sept. 21.—The Republican State convention was called to order by Robert H. Baker, at 12 o'clock, noon, who made a few appropriate remarks alluding to President Garfield.

On motion Hon. Phil. A. Orton, of Darlington, was made temporary chairman. Mr. Orton returned thanks for the honor done him; he also made some exceedingly touching remarks in reference to President Garfield.

On motion of ex-Senator Weeks, W. D. Hoard, of Jefferson, was made temporary secretary.

On motion of Dana C. Lamb, a committee on credentials was ordered.

Senator Joseph V. Quarles moved that before further business being done, a committee of nine be appointed to draft suitable resolutions expressing the deep grief of this convention on the death of President Garfield. Carried.

Senator Price moved that a committee of nine on resolutions be carried.

A committee was also ordered on permanent organization.

E. W. Keyes moved that a committee be appointed to name a chairman of the State Central Committee, and that each congressional delegation select one member of the State Central Committee. Carried. A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken, to allow committee on credentials to report. On reassembling the chairman announced the various committees, and the convention adjourned till 3 p. m.

Choice Extracts from Druggists.

"We know the value of malt, hops, calissay and iron composing 'Malt Bitters.'
"Our lady customers highly praise them."
"Physicians prescribe them in this town."
"The largest bottle and best medicine."
"Best blood purifier on our shelves."
"Our best people take 'Malt Bitters.'
"Best cure for phthisis and liver diseases."

This is a sad year for forest fires. Close upon the other great fires now comes the burning of 75,000 acres of timber in California, and a loss of about $300,000 of timber near Carthage, N. Y.

In a railway accident in France this week forty persons were injured, of whom about twenty were soldiers. That seems to be about the usual proportion of civilians to soldiers on European railways.

Many lose their beauty from the hair falling. Parker's Hair Balsam supplies necessary nourishment, prevents falling and grays, and is an elegant dressing.

Chicago, Concert saloon. Murder. The public doesn't care for details. Such events are so common there now. When Chicago begins to add hemp to the old story then readers will take fresh interest, and such occurrences will become rare enough to be news. If that great city really wants to get up a sensation, which will eclipse St. Louis, let it secure the conviction of a murderer.

Governor Pillsbury has called an extra session of the Minnesota legislature to meet October 11, to take steps concerning the payment of the old railway bonds. The action of the legislature will be watched with interest, as it will be a sort of crucial test of its financial wisdom and honor.

An old lady writes us: "I am 65 years old and was feeble and nervous all the time when I bought a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. I have used a little more than one bottle and feel as well as at 30, and am sure that hundreds need just such a medicine. See advertisement."

two years ago was tried by his denomination for wearing buttons, as the Omaha wear hook and eyes instead, and buttons was an innovation. The button side won, however, and the victorious Eicher bids Dr. Thomas fight until he too was a victory. Of course Dr. Thomas' lecture here has nothing to do with his church troubles, but if he could sandwich into it his opinion of the relative "social forces" of hooks and eyes and buttons it would be interesting to many a wayfarer man who is puzzled about the cheapest and speediest convenience to supplant the shingle nail which is in so common demand among the suspenders or wearers, and the pin which is so treacherous an article in the make-up of a toilet.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France or beautifiers of the world, while in the city, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof. See another column.
